Health Department Here Cut In Federal Fund Allocation

Fayette County's and Washington C. H.'s slice of the U. S. Department of Public Health funds for 1951 has been cut by more than 50 percent.

This has just been revealed by Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Ohio Department of Public Health, in a telephone conversation from Columbus to the Record-Herald.

Dr. Porterfield said a letter was sent to the Fayette County Health Department notifying it that it would only receive $3,700 this year, compared with $8,000 in 1950.

The state health director said
the cut was ordered after a formula set up about a year ago was applied to this county.

In the breakdown, Washington
C. H. will get $2,300, compared to $3,800 last year, and the county will receive $1,400, compared with $4,200 in 1950.

Dr. Porterfield said the allocations are based on such things as population, relative financial status of the county and the relation of rural to urban needs.

He said Ohio's share of the government money was increased from $640,000 to $750,000 for the year but, he added, there are five more qualified health departments in counties in Ohio than there were in 1950. And, he said, there have been some population shifts since the 1948 count of people was made. This year the 1950 census figures were used.

Dr. Porterfield said when the formula was applied to certain counties it was found that "they were out of line." He indicated that Fayette County was one, and that when the formula was strictly applied, it was found necessary to cut the amount of government money this county should receive both in 1950 and 1951.

The county health office was closed and a comment was not available when the information was received. It is not known what effect the drastic reduction in funds will have on the department here.

Naval Strategy Next At MacArthur Hearing

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
WASHINGTON, May 30 —(P)—
Senate investigators called Adm.
Forrest Sherman today to give his views regarding Gen. Douglas MacArthur's proposal to clamp a naval blockade on Red China.

Passing up a Memorial Day layoff, the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees summoned the naval operations chief as their sixth witness in the inquiry into President Truman's firing of MacArthur.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) said
the group hopes to wind up questioning of Sherman by nightfall and call Secretary of State Acheson tomorrow. So far, however, examination of none of the witnesses has been completed in a single day.

Secret Causes Delay

The start of the quizzing of Sherman was slated to be delayed briefly while the committee debates whether to make public a December 1949 State Department secret document dealing with the island of Formosa, now in the hands of Chinese Nationalists. In substance, the document advised the department's consular officials to prepare then for the fall of that Pacific Island, saying it was not vital to U. S. defenses.

MacArthur was fired for publicly advocating a naval blockade of the Red China Coast, as well as an intensified economic blockade, bombing of Communist Chinese supply bases, and use of the Formosa-based Nationalist forces under Chiang Kai Shek.

The administration's position is that such a program might bring Russia into the Korean conflict and touch off a third world war.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, completed two days of testimony late yesterday.
Just before he left the witness chair he told the committee America won't even begin to have adequate military security until sometime in 1953.

That assertion came after Senator Long (D-La.) noted Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson recently predicted that, as Long put it, "we can expect by 1953, at the rate we are going, to have a reasonable margin of security."

Long said he supposed Vandenberg agreed with Wilson on that.

"Not exactly, senator," Vandenberg replied. "My feeling is that the danger period begins from today until about 1954, and in my opinion in 1953 we will be bet-terly posted."

ginning to have an adequate mili-
"I would not say that in 1953 everything will be lovely by a long shot."

The air force boss again backed
Mr. Truman's removal of Mac-Arthur. He also told the committee:

1. War with Russia is not inevitable, but "I must confess that my hope for a peaceful world situation is rather limited."

2. He is against admitting Red China to the United Nations "under any circumstances." Also, he is equally opposed to considering seating the Reds in the UN as a bargaining point in any talks toward a Korean war settlement.

3. There is "a chance," based on the present military program, to achieve the United Nations goal of a unified, peaceful Korea—by dealing the Chinese Communists such punishing blows they will be willing to make peace on that basis.

4. There should be great caution against "demobilization or lowering of our sights" if the Korean war is settled satisfactorily.

Record Looms In Auto Race

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30 —(P)—
A new crop of drivers, toughen-ed on fair grounds tracks and the "high banks" circuit, challenged
a little group of shrewd veterans today in the 35th running of the 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Starting time was 11 A. M.
(Eastern Standard Time), with a warm, cloudy day forecast.

It was a hell-on-tires lineup that already had produced seven 10-mile qualification runs faster than the previous record.

Bill Holland's 1949 record for the full 500 miles, 121.327 miles an hour, was almost certain to fall
if the weather held good and there weren't too many wrecks.

Mauri Rose of South Bend, Ind., and Johnny Parsons of Van Nuys, Calif., were the only former winners in the 33-car lineup. Both were rated strong contenders.

Pole Is Crossed In Solo Flight

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 30 —(P)—A business-like man in a flying machine zipped over the top of the world yesterday to become the first pilot to fly a single-engine plane across the north pole.

Early today he was poised to try a non-stop flight from here to New York City. Take-off time was 7
A. M. EST.

The Pan American Airways
captain, Charles Blair, 41, streaked 3,300 miles from Bardu, Norway to Fairbanks, Alaska, in 10 hours and 27 minutes.

Severe Defeat Of Reds Claimed

Far East Commander
Gives War Appraisal

BY WILLIAM JORDEN
TOKYO, May 30 —(P)—Gen.
Matthew B. Ridgway said today
Allied troops had inflicted a
"major, severe defeat" on the Chinese and Red Korean armies.

The supreme commander, back from a two-day trip to the war front, said United Nations troops had captured 10,000 Red soldiers since the Communists opened their first spring offensive April 22.

He praised the U. S. Second Division with attached French and Dutch units for its gallant stand in East-Central Korea which turned the main Communist blow.

And Ridgway warned that the Reds have the power to strike again. But he expressed confidence that his UN troops again could stop them.

Still clad in combat boots and fatigue pants, the supreme commander grimly told reporters
there is no reason to believe the war is near an end.

Reds Won't Compromise

"With them (the Communists)
there is no compromise, and for us there is no choice."

Ridgway said the Communist leaders, "with a cynical disregard for the lives of their own men," gave the free world a clear view
"of the fate that would befall us and all other free peoples if they are successful."

Only a change of policy on the highest Communist levels in Moscow or Peking, he said, can stop the bloodshed.

Ridgway said Communist morale was breaking under the tremendous Allied fire superiority, the staggering losses suffered by the Reds, and the growing, severe shortage of food in Communist-held areas.

The supreme commander made it clear that the Allied command is puzzled by the lack of armor and air power in the Communist divisions.

He left no doubt that the use of such weapons on a large scale would cause trouble.

Entombed Miners All Feared Dead

EASINGTON, England, May 30
—(P)— Rescue squads burrowed through debris-choked tunnels today on the slim hope that some of the 62 men buried by a violent mine explosion would still be found alive. Seventeen others are known dead.

The rescue work continued
throughout the night and today
after a blast trapped 79.

People Confused by Price Jitters

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, May 30 —(P)— Consumers could lick their chops
today at the prospects of "price wars" among some department stores and gasoline dealers.

Wholesale commodity prices are weak and have been slipping on average for weeks, promising relief at retail later on.

But the price picture includes many rising prices, too. And the consumer can be pardoned if he's just plain confused.

Memorial Day Is Observed by Yanks in Korea

Tributed To Heroes
Of All Wars Paid in Hillside Cemetery

BY NATE POLOWETZKY

PUSAN, Korea, May 30 —(P)—
Soldiers of this newest war bowed their heads in a green hillside cemetery in a Memorial Day tribute to the Americans who have died at Belleau Wood, Okinawa and now—Taejon and Hagaru.

A message from Lt. Gen. James
A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, to the soldiers who gathered for this first Memorial Day services at the new United Nations Cemetery here said:

"These men lying here are the heroes of Korea. We who are still living can never thank them enough but we shall never stop trying."

Thousands of white crosses dotted the cemetery, on a hillside overlooking the sea.

All the while the rain kept coming down.

Lt. Gen. John B. Coulter, deputy commander of the Eighth Army, read the Memorial Day address of Van Fleet, who was unable to attend because of duties at the front.

"We have come here to thank the heroic soldiers, sailors and airmen and our God that we are still alive to emulate them and to continue to be warriors of peace,
like them," the message said.

Of the UN forces fighting in Korea, the general said:

"Never have military forces been more qualified, or read, and more willing for battle."

"Never have forces been imbued with a greater worship of God and country, duty and honor."

Fighting Aggression

The Eighth Army commander said the Allies in Korea are fighting "to stop ruthless aggression and to maintain the peace."

"We are fighting for our very freedom which all free and decent people everywhere cherish
so high."

"In our democracy we emphasize equality, but in our homes, our schools and our churches and in our military forces we emphasize quality."

"It is the quality of these men lying here which made them great. It is the quality of the United Nations forces in Korea that makes this command great."

A marine corps chaplain gave the invocation, an army chaplain read the Memorial Day order, an air force chaplain offered the prayer and a navy chaplain the benediction.

Representatives of nearly all the Allied nations with troops in Korea attended.

Seventy-six year old President Syngman of Korea stood bareheaded in the pouring rain
throughout the half-hour service.

Wraths were laid on the graves.
At the end a Negro soldier and white soldier sounded taps. The final notes were echoed by a third bugler 200 yards away across the rain-glittering crosses.

A soldier and a sailor placed the American flag—one of the 15 national colors flying over the cemetery—at half-mast while the army and air force bands played the
"Star Spangled Banner."

Don't Forget the Live Heroes In Tributes on Memorial Day

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(P)— After visiting the graves of their loved ones
this Memorial Day, a lot of people are going to ask themselves,
"Isn't there something I can do for our live heroes, too?"

There is. You can sit down and write a letter to some boy in Korea. That'll be nice. He'll be glad to get it.

There's an even nicer thing you can do. You can go visit a blood bank and contribute a pint. You'll find some other people have had the same thought—but not enough of them. You won't find the blood bank crowded. You can get in and get out in an hour.

David Mechanic, 27, a sailor, didn't wait until Memorial Day.
Setting in the Brooklyn Red Cross blood center Monday, he explained:

"I got back from Korea myself
two days ago. I went to a navy hospital this morning. I saw a friend there I hadn't seen since last December. He had lost both legs -- frostbite. I came here from the hospital."

Wounded in Korea

Mechanic himself is still under medical treatment from battle wounds.

"They gave me two pints of blood in Korea," he said matter-of-factly. "I just want to pay it back. My folks are going to give blood, too, this week -- my father, sister and brother-in-law. My mother wants to, but she isn't well."

Ex-Wife Confesses She Killed Rival

TOLEDO, May 30 —(P)— Authorities today held a 41-year-old woman who sheriff's deputies said admitted she walked up to the cottage of her ex-husband and fatally shot Mrs. Pearl Senti, 45.

"Yes, I definitely shot her and I would do it again x x x," the deputies quoted Mrs. Anna Lee Robinson, twice divorced and the mother of three children.

Coroner Paul Hohly said the slaying was the result of a love triangle between Mrs. Senti, Mrs.
Robinson and the latter's ex-spouse, John Bolasz, 45.

Mrs. Robinson lives near her husband's cottage 16 miles east of here along Lake Erie.

In her statement, she said she fired a pistol at Mrs. Senti who was coming out of a door of the cottage. The bullet passed through the other woman's heart, the coroner said.

Bolasz, who had been mowing
the lawn, fled through a field.
He was held as a material witness.

Formal charges had not been filed.

Stiffer Fight Being Put Up Now, However

Commie Discontent
Growing, Evidence
At Front Indicates

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, May 30 —(P)— Communists dug in on high ridges fought stubbornly this rainy Memorial Day against Allied troops driving deeper into Red Korea along all the main roads.

Red resistance mounted steadily. The Communists apparently were determined to make United Nations forces pay heavily for any further advance into North Korea, AP Correspondent Stan Carter reported from Eighth Army headquarters.

UN troops had lunged 26 miles north of the 38th Parallel border, cutting all motor escape routes from South Korea. But field dispatches said apparently most Reds already had escaped—or died trying to get out.

Despite the stiffening fight north of 38, there was growing evidence of widespread discontent in Communist ranks.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said
10,000 Reds have been captured since they began their ill-fated spring offensives April 22. He added:

"Desertion has become a definite and serious problem for the Communists well back into their rear areas."

Rain-drenched UN troops had driven the Reds back to the starting point of their first spring offensive.

Staging Bases Threatened

Field dispatches reported Communist forces apparently reached a holding stage as Allies threatened their staging bases in the Chorwon - Kumwha - Hwachon triangle.

Across the front on Memorial Day, morning field dispatches and communiques gave this picture
from west to east:

West-south -- Korean troops across the Imjin River north of Seoul fought a Red battalion. Reds camouflaged on high ground blocked Americans trying to fight their way into Yonchon, six miles north of the Parallel.

West central -- American troops advanced to the Hantan River north of Yongpyong. This put them about five miles north of 38. UN troops, headed toward Kumwha on a nearby road, drove to "a point high above the Parallel," Carter reported.

Central -- large groups of Reds spotted west of Hwachon appeared to be delaying troops rather than retreating. Communists, an Eighth Army spokesman said, South Koreans battled toward them. Reds stubbornly resisted UN forces fighting north and east from recaptured Hwa-chon.

East-central -- South Koreans pushed eastward along the south
banks of the Hwachon reservoir seeking to join Americans operating in the Inje area.

Death Claims Fanny Brice

HOLLYWOOD, May 30 —(P)— Rabbi Max Nussbaum will conduct funeral rites tomorrow for Fanny Brice, beloved "Baby Snooks" of stage, screen and radio.

The 59-year-old comedienne died yesterday of a massive cerebral hemorrhage. She never regained consciousness after the stroke suffered last Thursday.

The National Broadcasting Company last night substituted a 30 minute musical memorial to Miss Brice for her weekly "Baby Snooks" show. Her shows were not taped in advance, as are many network shows.

Although she was best known in recent years for her impish child character, she once was one of Florenz Ziegfeld's greatest singing stars.

Class of '26 at WHS To Hold Reunion Here

Members of the 1926 graduating class of Washington C. H. High School will renew their friendships and relive some of their school experiences June 16 and 17, when they will hold a class reunion here.

The reunion for the class members, exclusively, will be held at 6:30 P. M. Saturday, June 16, at the Washington Country Club.

On Sunday, June 17, the class of '26 is extending an invitation to all other classes which were graduated from the high school and to the general public to attend an assembly in the high school auditorium.

One of the highlights of the assembly will be an organ concert by Enid McClure Woodward, a member of the WHS class of '26 and assistant professor of organ and director of the chapel choir and Glee Club at Carleton College in Northfield, Minn.

One of the outstanding members of the class of '26, Edric Elmes, who was the president of the senior class of 1926 and is now an industrial engineer with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Akron, will be on the program both Saturday and Sunday.

Program Outlined
On Sunday, the program will be opened with the professional "Lead on, O King Eternal," which has become a tradition at commencements at Washington C. H. High School over the years.
Miss Charlene Mark, soprano and a member of the class of '26, will sing during the assembly.

Love Via Air Mail Meets Emergency

SINGAPORE—(P)—An excited, 28-year-old Italian blonde stopped briefly in Singapore recently on her way to Sydney, Australia, to marry a man whom she has never met.

Signorina Ester Rebuffe, a hat designer, of Fontaine, in Asti province, explained her romance and the reason for making the 10,000-mile Rome to Sydney flight.

"It was last August that my cousin in Australia wrote to say that 38-year-old Bob Boronio wanted to marry a girl from his own country," she said.

"Bob sent his picture to me and I sent mine. His letters showed that he had good character and was full of dash. We fell in love, and so he sent for me."

Signorina Rebuffe said Boronio left Italy 20 years ago to seek his fortune in Australia and was now wealthy.

Rum-soaked Wheat Liked by Pigeons

SYDNEY — (P) — Newcastle's pigeons won the first round of the rum-soaked wheat battle. You may have read the bright idea of Newcastle Parks Supervisor M. Sivert to feed the city's pigeons with wheat soaked in rum. The idea was that the pigeons would become staggery and easy to catch. The pigeons were -- and still are -- unpopular because they are eating up the young poppies and pansies sown for a big floral display.

The Newcastle people fed the pigeons plain wheat for two days. The third day they laced the wheat with rum. From nearby rooftops the pigeons swooped down into the park. They ate heartily. They then flew back to the rooftops in steady formations.

Now there's talk of soaking wheat in stronger rum for a week before feeding the pigeons.

Innocent Abroad

COBALT, Ont., (P)—Mrs. Geoffrey Ashe, coming from England, sent her Miamense cat on ahead. The cat had to go to Amos for customs inspection, and when it was delivered to Mrs. Ashe at Rouyn, it was accompanied by a batch of puffed Siamese kittens.

There will be representatives from the school administration, the 1951 graduating class at WHS, and at least one member of the class of '26 on the stage.

Efforts will be made to obtain a message to read on the occasion from a member of the first graduating class at the high school.

Occasion for the reunion of the class of 1926 is that this year is the 25th since the members were graduated from the high school. The class of 1926 was graduated during the 50th commencement season at the high school.

This year the 1951 graduates were graduated during the 75th commencement season.

These planning the reunion are the following: Howard Dellinger, chairman; Mrs. Clark Penry, secretary; and Mrs. Clarence Hackett, treasurer.

It's Good News For Home Front

Shortages Easing And Prices Leveling

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK, May 30 —(P)—It's a day of bubbling cheerfulness along the economic front.

Keep a grain of salt handy, but here's the good news they're passing around today:

The high cost of living going no higher--for a time.

The end of the steel shortage in sight--an oversupply "nearer than most people think".

New records in production set in some industries, such as oil.

Motorists getting gasoline cheaper at some stations on the eastern seaboard.

Better deals on new cars reported in some localities.

Personal income in March 10 percent higher than a year ago, and now at an annual rate of $242.5 billion.

The list runs on. But the department of commerce adds its cautionary note: defense spending will double by the end of the year and really put the pressure on the civilian economy.

The good news about the cost of living's taking a breather comes from Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics. He says: "It's relatively quiet on the price front generally. We'll probably have a stable situation for a while, at least until we see what food prices are going to do as the new crops come in."

Meat Big Question

As for meat--the big item in many budgets and the most controversial item in price control debates--there's reassuring news for housewives, in one city at least.

New York's market commissioner reports his inspectors find retailers obeying the ceilings, with no evidence of black marketing, and no signs of the widely threatened supply shortages.

Bargains show up spottily at other counters. Retailers are still studying the supreme court ruling that made State Fair Trade Laws less binding. No price cutting wars are reported. But in several cities auctions of television sets and home appliances have been tried, with prices below list figures.

Production records continue to topple as America's great industrial machine gets rolling. The department of commerce puts the total value of all goods and services at a record annual rate now of $314 billion. That's $42 billion higher than pre-War.

Crude oil production hit a new high last week, averaging 6,177,100 barrels a day. That's more than one million barrels better than a year ago. And today the Sun Oil Co. cuts its gasoline price by one cent a gallon to dealers in the 13 east coast states.

Some shortages are beginning to

WIFE of Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, chief aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Mrs. Whitney and her 13-year-old son, Dick, arrive in San Francisco aboard the transport General E. D. Patrick. Brushing off newsmen's queries concerning the ouster of MacArthur, Mrs. Whitney would only state that she was in the U. S. "to stay." (International) give way to production, too. At the annual meeting of the Society of The Plastics Industry, in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., today, leaders report that already there has been some easing in the tight supply situation. They predict the near future will see the material shortages much less critical, although the present allocation system may have to be continued.

Steel executives also are optimistic. For one thing, expansion of capacity is going along faster than first predicted. The goal set was a 108 million ton capacity by the end of the year. Some now think the figure will be 110 million tons by then.

This is the 12th consecutive week in which steel ingot output has topped two million tons and

'Dead or Alive' Basis Put on Big Reward

By B. V. S. RAO
RAJKOT, India, May 29 —(P)—

The government of Saurashtra, a new Indian state composed of former princely holdings in the Kathiawar Peninsula, has offered operations have been scheduled at more than 100 percent of theoretical capacity.

At the annual meeting of the American Iron & Steel Institute, now in progress in New York, these predictions are ventured:

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, "an oversupply of steel may be nearer than most people in the United States think."

Eugene G. Grace, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, "steel is rapidly reaching the point where it can take care of national defense and related programs and still have a very liberal supply for the peacetime economy."

Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of Inland Steel, "cuts in civilian uses and restrictions on credit may create a situation for a while where we will have more steel than can be absorbed. This may be at the last quarter of 1951." But all agree that the demand for steel hasn't slackened yet.

a reward of 50,000 rupees ($10,500) for the seizure dead or alive of India's top bandit chief.

He is Bhupat Makwana, a 35-year-old Hindu sometimes called Kathiawar's Salvatore Guiliano, after the famous Sicilian gangster.

The Saurashtra police accused Bhupat of at least 40 murders committed in the course of armed robberies against the inhabitants of 27 villages.

Sparsely settled Kathiawar in western India affords a happy hunting ground for Bhupat, who--like the Sicilian bandit since slain in a police trap--is a crack shot and a fast and wild driver.

When the Indian "Guiliano" finds it hard to make his raids in stolen automobiles he switches to horseback, striking swiftly then fading from sight before police pursuit can be organized.

Bhupat once served as a soldier in the "provisional government of Junagadh," where he worked for leader Samaldas Gandhi. At the time of partition revolt swept the area when Hindu residents of Junagadh opposed the action of the Nawab of Junagadh in joining Pakistan. Finally the Nawab fled to Pakistan leaving the Indian Hindus in control.

The bandit leader took up robbery as a profession following the end of this short campaign. First he looted the homes of well-to-do farmers, shooting without hesitation whenever he was opposed.

Then he formed a bandit gang and turned his attention to the richer villages. Reports of his ventures always stress his kindness toward women and his "sharing" of his loot with the poor.

Unable to trap the fast-moving Bhupat, police officials enlisted the aid of the Indian army in their hunt. As many as 100 soldiers at a time followed his trails through wild and sparsely settled areas.

Numerous traps were laid for his capture. Each time Bhupat, warned by his associates, managed to escape. Many times he exchanged gunfire with police and soldiers.

Recently police spies brought back word that Bhupat is overconfident and boastful. He holds drinking bouts frequently, they say, and laughs at the effort of the law to capture him.

So the government offered the 50,000 rupee reward. Its purpose one official confirmed coldly, is to see Bhupat safely in jail, or preferably, to see his bullet-riddled body on some lonely burning ghast.

That They "Shall Not Have Died In Vain"

Hundreds of Fayette County people today are paying homage to the honored dead in this community, those who gave military service to their country, and in so doing, gave their lives.

It is fitting that we should do this. There is a continuing obligation laid upon the conscience of the people of this country to pay tribute and honor to those who have died in the nation's defense.

The placing of flowers on soldiers' graves is one of the symbols of fulfilling this duty, but to thousands of citizens the implication of this action goes much deeper.

Down through the years our faith has prompted the hope that somehow and in some degree those so honored are being reached with these expressions of human sympathy and living memory.

On one day this week we heard one good citizen living here say that perhaps it is well for our peace of mind that the soldier dead cannot now speak to us. The authority of patriotism's highest devotion and fulfillment would be heard from them if they could get a message across to us. They could tell what is meant when we hear, "they gave the last full measure of devotion". He implied too few people today have an honest attitude toward love of country.

In today's troubled world, with tyrants and dictators still forcing the loss of human lives, could these honored dead reveal to us in the light of their new spiritual understanding the way to solve human problems without bloodshed? Such understanding seems beyond us just now in the selfishness and ambition which demands so many lives.

When we pay homage to the American soldier, we are not concerned merely with his great deeds and the victories he won. It is the fact that he went where his country asked him to go, and suffered what his country's need required him to suffer, that is important.

Memorial Day brings no pride of conquest—except for our pride in the American soldier's eternal conquest of himself, his ability to beat down fear and thought of self and face the fortunes of battle.

As we decorate the graves of the heroic dead, may we listen in our inner consciousness for their instruction and admonition. Let us "highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

No Wheat Shortage

If there were a real wheat crop scare, the price of the cereal would be spiraling upward. But both government and private estimates indicate there will be a winter wheat harvest of approximately 700,000,000 bushels. The harvest of spring wheat is estimated to total 300,000,000 bushels.

Add to that the expected carryover of 425,000,000 bushels and approximately 1-425,000 bushels of wheat will be available until the 1952 harvest. The carryover next spring is expected to be approximately 400-000,000 bushels.

It is apparent no wheat shortage will rear its ugly head this year. To create a shortage of wheat would require a succession of drouth years such as those of the mid-thirties. Even then wheat crops were larger than needed and huge surpluses piled up which were only reduced during the war years.

The fact that the United States will have a large wheat surplus after this year's highly advertised crop "failure" is a demonstration of the strength the nation is accumulating for any international crisis.

Emphasize the Positive

For the better part of a generation there has been far too much talk about 'security'—about wage floors and work-week ceilings and pensions and unemployment insurance. All this has implanted a false feeling that somehow somebody in Washington was going to take care of us. Now there is a threat to our real security. We won't lick that by any negative attitude of curtailment in production. This is a time to emphasize the positive—and get out the goods.

Here's How You Can Look Tweedy

NEW YORK, May 30 —(AP)—All my life I have yearned to look tweedy.

You think that's easy? Try it. It isn't as simple as buying a tweed suit. I tried that. It didn't work at all. I didn't look tweedy. I just looked baggy. My pants were knee sprung -- as if I spent the whole day doing standing broadjumps.

No, wearing a tweed suit is no way to look tweedy. That just makes you look like a man who wants to look tweedy -- and that means you who just look real-tweedy you simply can't have on a tweed suit at all.

Just what is a tweedy look? Well, you can't define it exactly. On the other hand you can't mistake it when you see it. Some fellows look tweedy in bathing trunks. It is just a kind of air of desperate casualness, I felt.

"Well, heaven knows you look about as casual as a laundry bag," Frances said. "But you don't look tweedy, dear. Let's face it. You look more like somebody who ran for city alderman -- and lost."

Then I got the idea maybe looking shaggy would help me look tweedy. So I let my hair grow. On the sides, that is -- the only place left where it grows.

Tweedy?

"No, dear," said Frances. "You just look like a middle-aged sheep dog going slightly bald."

Then she whistled and snapped her fingers and said, "come here, and I'll pet you."

Pet me? No, sir. Girls don't want to pet real tweedy looking men. They may have a wild desire to rumple them. But pet them? Never.

I was about to give up my dream as hopeless. And then I made an astonishing discovery. I found that the ten tweediest looking fellows I knew all smoke pipes.

Could it be as simple as that? I raced across the street and some tobacco. I lit up the pipe and strolled out of the store with as desperate an air of casualness as I could muster.

Two girls walked by, and believe it or not, one said, "Isn't he tweedy?" And the other answered, "how tweedy can you get?" Well, there I was -- tweedy at last. Isn't it odd sometimes how life gives you an easy springboard to happiness just when the world seems to be closing in on you?

Dozens of people come up to me now and say, "you're getting tweedier every day." And they never suspect it isn't really me. It's just the desperately casual way I have of smoking my new pipe. I keep it lit all the time.

Unofficial Aides to Presidents

Robert E. Sherwood, in his biography, "Roosevelt and Hopkins," speaking of Harry's Hopkins' death, says:

"The day after Hopkins' death, I read an editorial in the Los Angeles Times which recited the familiar complaint that he was 'never elected by the people to a public office' and that his activities as presidential adviser were 'out of bounds by any constitutional concept,' and it added, 'Americans need not concern themselves now whether Harry Hopkins was great or little or good or bad. Their care should be that the phenomenon of a Harry Hopkins in the White House does not recur.'"

"The editorial did not state just what measures should be taken to prevent such a recurrence—possibly a law providing that the president's personal friends and advisers, and even his guests at the White House, must be elected by popular vote or at least be made subject to approval by the Senate..."

An American president has been given enormous authority and responsibility, upon which has been piled an unbelievable quantity of detail. He is, of course, served by a vast bureaucracy, but the management of his office and household is a full time job.

The labors of office as well as the proprieties make any president a prisoner in the White House. He cannot walk the streets interviewing citizens. He cannot drive solo along country roads stopping at diners and listening to truckers' conversation.

And so, every president, in time, surrounds himself not only with officially employed secretaries but with persons whom he likes and trusts. Colonel Edward House and Bernard Baruch so served Woodrow Wilson. Frank W. Stearns served Calvin Coolidge. And to the names that are known and publicized must be added those utterly anonymous friends, often college classmates, former associates and even relatives, who bring in scraps of data which guard a president from the enveloping bureaucracy.

President Warren Harding was unfortunate in his intimacy with the Ohio gang who used him for their own advantage. They were "poker cronies" and more mischief can be done during the long and relaxed hours of a poker game than in any other way. It was done to Harding.

I shall not refer at this moment to Herbert Hoover or Franklin D. Roosevelt but plunge into what is undoubtedly a real menace both to Harry Truman and to the United States, namely, "the brotherhood of Missouri" pals. Using the New Deal alphabetical device, we might call them "bumps."

These "bumps" are uniformly mediocre. They have, man for man, encountered no success in business or the professions prior to Mr. Truman's emergence to high office. Not one of them has had an outstanding career or displayed any genius for administration. The best that can be said for them is that they are good guys. The worst, that some of them know how to make and hide a quick buck.

The testimony of Donald Dawson before the Fulbright committee does not disclose the passing of bribes or any such thing. Rather, it establishes a total misconception of public propriety and morals. That may be said of Mrs. Young's mink coat, which as a coat means nothing but on a stenographer in the president's office means too much. General Vaughan's belly-laughs may be gargantuan, but they do not impress a citizen with the sobriety of the White House in time of war.

In a word, the president's "bumps" are fellows he likes to have around and he is entitled to his choice. He used to include Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Secretary of the Senate Les Biffle, and even the vice president, Alben Barkley, among his intimates, but it is no secret that his preoccupation with his Missouri pals leaves him little leisure for more experienced and wiser men, who too often speak to him with now unpalatable frankness.

The test of the whole matter is the inexcusable method of the MacArthur dismissal. Politically, Truman needed that like a hole in the head. Can anyone imagine Franklin D. Roosevelt walking into that? He would have invited MacArthur to a White House conference, surrounded with all the pomp of presidential affability. He probably would have sent General Bradley to Japan and made MacArthur his White House adviser. In a couple of months, MacArthur would have been a forgotten pigeon, the public memory being what it is.

Truman's "bumps" will remain with him to his political end, because he likes them and feels more at home in the atmosphere of Kansas City than Washington.

Diet and Health

Several Conditions Can Cause Anemia

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Many people have anemia, or lack of sufficient red cells and coloring matter in the blood. It can result from many causes. Generally, these causes may be divided into three main groups. The first and most obvious cause of anemia is loss of blood, either the result of injury or of long-continued bleeding due to disease, such as that which sometimes occurs in stomach ulcer. Conditions which make for increased destruction of the red cells and those which impair the body's ability to form them at normal speeds make up the other two groups.

An undue number of red cells may be destroyed as the result of infections or because of poisoning with various chemical substances. Infants are sometimes born with conditions, such as congenital hemolytic anemia, which bring about extremely rapid destruction of the blood.

Slower Than Normal

Blood cell formation may be slower than normal, either because certain elements necessary to their construction are missing or because of damage to the bone marrow, the site of their formation. One of the elements most needed for cell manufacture is iron and, where there is a lack of iron-containing foods in the diet, anemia always results. A lack of vitamin C may be a factor. A deficiency of thyroid also makes for anemia, as does cirrhosis of the liver. One of the most severe of all anemias, that termed pernicious, is due to lack of a substance found in liver and liver extracts.

Chemical poisoning, the poison formed by germs and X-ray radi-

Church Development Program Launched

CINCINNATI, May 30 —(AP)—A group of financial advisers recommended today that members of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., contribute an additional $24-000,000 in a 30-month campaign.

The money, a special committee of churchmen advised the church's general assembly, is "urgently" needed for the development of new churches and for expansion of theological seminaries in which ministers are trained.

The committee told the assembly that $30,000,000 would provide new buildings for both foreign and national missions.

But, the committee expressed fear that a drive for $30,000,000 would result in failure.

Therefore, it suggested the assembly concentrate first on raising the $24,000,000 for church development and seminaries.

The budget, for 1952, asks Presbyterians to contribute $18,950-564 in addition to what they give for operation to their local congregations.

Old New Look Comes Back In Summer Styles in Paris

By FLORENCE MILLS
PARIS — That old "New Look" is back this summer looking as handsome and hippy as ever. The comeback of this most controversial yet successful of all feminine fashions has been staged by leading couturier Jacques Fath.

His summer fashion parade features decollete dresses with enormous, padded skirts which compete with Dior's three year old "New Look" for sheer hippiness. The skirts, which are often sun-ray pleated, eat up yards and yards of material. He uses shantung, organza or pique with an occasional Broderie Anglaise.

Accompanying tailored jackets, usually of the same material, but sometimes in a contrast such as toile, are yanked in to fit an almost nonexistent waist, then spread out over the hips to cover the almost crinoline dimensions of the skirt.

Fath hasn't dropped his hemlines to the long "New Look" level, but all his skirts are definitely a little longer than last season and knees are well hidden.

Fath is also showing halter-necked coats. The coats are reversible, being either sunray pleated one side and plain the other, or in a dual color scheme. Typical example is in navy blue alpaca with white lapels that widen and continue right down to the hemline. When the coat is reversed, it becomes white with navy blue lapels.

Sheath dresses — a Fath specialty — are as "snaky-hipped" as ever and definitely built only for very lean women.

He dresses them up with enormous collars and cuffs of glazed white linen or with long scarves of chiffon or candy-striped taffeta.

The scarves usually encircle a wedge-shaped neckline then extend into two loose panels, held in at the waist with a black patent leather belt.

Another style by Fath has a scooped out decollete set with a wide, off-shoulder, shawl collar which disappears into the bodice just below the bust, then re-emerges to form a wide, loose-hanging panel down the skirt.

Heaviest applause at his summer fashion showing was accorded a loose coat in pale rose satin, lined with pale blue satin, worn over a short evening dress in white organza. It was strapless and had the typical puffed-up mushroom style of skirt.

No modesty is waived in Paris this summer as far as beach fashions are concerned.

Scanty swimsuits — both one and two-piece affairs — seem designed specially to make the on-looker blush.

Bikini styles that have pants terminating well below the navel and bras that only just serve their purpose, are well to the fore.

But one of the most daring efforts is being shown by designer Jacques Heim. He makes a one-piece suit in blood red satin lastex which has a "flegle" insert of white satin.

Bright colored terry cloth (toweling) is used extensively for long beach stoles, and jackets and particularly for lining loose, sleeveless smocks that barely reach the top of the thighs.

Schiaparelli lines a whole polo coat of navy blue blanket wool with white terry cloth. Heim uses buttercup yellow and kelly green terry cloth for huge stoles set with big patch pockets, and embroidered heavily with tan and black straw flowers.

He covers a Bikini suit in white pique with a matching smock lined reversibly with turquoise terry cloth.

An ensemble called "Sardine" has a sack-shaped cape and hood of red shantung placed over a black cotton swimsuit overlaid with coarse white fishnet.

Sensational outfit by Heim has a faded larkspur blue cotton swimsuit teamed with an outside fisherman's hat in multi-colored straw which sweeps down to thigh level at the back.

On the more conservative side, he shows tight-fitting kneepants in black and white checked gingham, topped with a halter bodice and little flared apron in raspberry red linen.

Designer Jean Patou goes in for the covered-up look this summer and shows long shorts, complete with creases, that reach to the knees. With it goes a boat-necked bolero and a roll-brimmed bowler hat in black linen.

In this incongruous outfit he competes with Heim who shows a model wearing white pique gloves with a swimsuit.

Another designer, Carven, goes all native this summer. Her mannequins go barefooted as they parade in fringed sunsuits made of cotton printed with African jungle scenes.

Carven either wraps material around the figure, native style, or else she favors brief, puffy bloomers, bare midriffs and bra tops that cover one shoulder.

She also favors the short, sleeveless smock, shown by other designers this summer. One in green, black and white, zebra-striped cotton, covers a green satin swimsuit scalloped at all edges with white silk embroidery.

Riots in South Africa

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, May 30 — (AP) — Some 60 persons were injured last night in rioting outside South Africa's parliament as an estimated 50,000 persons demonstrated against a bill to place colored voters on separate rolls.

Engagement Is Announced

Miss Bonnie Elaine Bowen

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bowen of the Prairie Road are announcing the engagement of their daughter Bonnie Elaine to Pfc. John C. Milstead, son of Mrs. A. R. Zettler, 616 Arlington Ave. Springfield and Mr. Leonard Milstead of Vandalia.

Miss Bowen is employed as a clerk-typist at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton.

Pfc. Milstead attended Wittenberg College in Springfield before his enlistment in the army air force in March of this year. He is now stationed at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois where he is taking a nine months course in radio.

Both Miss Bowen and Pfc. Milstead are graduates in the class of 1949 of Jeffersonville High School. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Camp Fire Girls To Have Project For One Week

Beginning Monday, June 4, the Camp Fire Girls and the Blue Birds are planning a sale of Life Savers. These fruit flavored mints are manufactured by the Life Saver Company in Rochester, New York, which has been granted permission to use the Camp Fire insignia on its products.

The girls will visit homes in their districts and the Life Savers will also be on sale in the downtown area. They will be sold as separate rolls or by the box. The sale will continue through Saturday, June 9.

Scrap Salvage Drive Launched

DAYTON, May 30 — (AP) — The supply division, Air Material Command of the U. S. Air Force, today began to intensify a world-wide drive to salvage scrap paper, textiles, aluminum and other metals to help meet defense and essential civilian needs.

The division, in a letter to commanding officers of all Air Force installations, set up a program for maximum conservation and utilization of materials. Today's appeal, the air force said, was aimed at "getting worn-out machinery, tools, jigs, dies and other items back into the economy to help meet essential requirements."

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chaney and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton motored to Indianapolis, Indiana to attend the Memorial Day automobile races.

Miss Elizabeth McDonald arrived Wednesday from Indianapolis, Indiana to attend the funeral of Mrs. Luella McKee. She will remain over Thursday.

Department Stores Start Price-cutting

NEW YORK, May 30 — (AP) — Leading New York department stores sold many nationally-advertised articles at less than so-called "Fair Trade" prices today. But a quick survey showed little tendency for a "price war" in the nation's other great retail merchandise markets.

There was more watchful waiting than active price-cutting, an Associated Press survey indicated. Price cuts of around 6 percent, instituted today by R. H. Macy &

Co., world's largest department store, on 5,978 items of "price-fixed" brand name merchandise, were met in many instances by other stores here.

Gimbel Brothers, big rival of Macy's, along New York's busy 34th Street, said "we are meeting all prices, as we have in the past." But across the nation, merchants' comments ranged from "we will meet all competition," and "nobody undersells us" to "no price changes made or planned."

Use old-fashioned dark molasses sometimes to sweeten cooked cereal. Prunes and figs are also good added to cooked oatmeal or farina.

Letters to Editor Flood Mail As People Epress 'Agin It' Views on Controversial Topic

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK, May 30 —(AP)—The opposition makes the mailman's arches ache.

These are days of crisis and emergency, of debate and controversy. These are days when more people are giving in to every man's occasional impulse to say--in writing -- what's on their mind.

Veterans on the receiving end of "vox pop" mail -- legislators, newspaper and magazine editors, radio commentators and others--are getting much more mail than usual.

A fiercely controversial matter, such as the MacArthur affair, is bound to unclog the fountain pens of huge numbers of amateur and semi-pro letter writers. The Korean action has used up rivers of ink. The Kefauver committee revelations devoured reams of foolscap and bond. The military draft, the RFC investigation and such have caused minor runs on stamp windows.

Just Normal Reaction

Letter-writing of the vox pop type is a pretty normal manifestation, says Dr. Adele Streeseiman, New York psychiatrist.

"Why do people pick up a pen?" she asked. "It's a desire to be without guilt -- to do it elegantly, within the socially approved structure."

The majority of letters, she said, are full of "destructive criticism -- bawling people out"--which indicates fear.

"People are too polite to do that directly," she said. "There are many frightened people; there is fear in the air, and we are preoccupied with violence. All this is stimulant toward aggressive behavior."

"But it may be a healthy sign," she concluded. "It has frequently the effect of relieving immediate tensions within the individual -- who is not troubled by fear of reprisals. On the other hand, it can be unhealthy if the person does not realize what he is doing -- figuratively striking a blow. Impetuous writing is violence."

The nation's vox pop pop-offers are a cross-section of the population, believes Don Thompson who handles letters to the editor for New York's Daily News.

"Some of them are people who just want to see their letters in print," Thompson said. "Then there are disgruntled people. There are hobbyists -- the cat and dog lovers are terrific writers."

Local Interest, Too

The outbreak of trouble in Korea brought a 15 to 20 percent increase in reader mail. But, Thompson added, people react to local situations, too. The mail bag swelled again when revelations about basketball game fixing were made in the city.

Another large newspaper carefully keeps a card index on all writers of editorial-type mail so that the constant writers get published in some sort of rotation.

A retired lawyer with the engaging name of Hyacinthe Ringrose made a full-time hobby until his death of writing letters to the papers. He achieved considerable fame with his provocative essays.

Bernard Baruch is a frequent "letters to the editor" writer. So are Norman Thomas and Henry A. Wallace.

Editors watch closely for crank letters. One veteran editor says that the number of crank letters increases when the moon is full.

H. V. Kaltenborn, dean of radio commentators, says his mail ranges between 130 and 200 letters a week. He agrees that people are moved to write against things, rather than for them.

He says he considers his mail an indication of public thinking, but far from an accurate sampling of it.

"Families with boys in Korea are much more apt to write about the way the conflict is going than are families less intimately affected," he said.

"Writers are people with strong feelings and who are dogmatic along certain lines of thought."

Pet Opinions Submitted

Another news commentator, Pauline Frederick, said many of her correspondents pass along pet opinions and pet projects. One woman wants to put into effect the Lysistrata method of outlawing war, a man wants to bomb Red China with food for propaganda purposes.

A major weekly news magazine (Time) receives about 700 letters a week -- a total which drops off during the summer vacation months and which does not seem to vary much with news breaks.

Most of this mail is carefully written because the writers obviously are backing for a spot in the magazine's "letters" column.

The magazine has seven employees whose sole job is to answer their correspondents as "pen-pals" and "pen-pests." One pen pal is a retired Texas gentleman who writes along pieces concerning the flora and fauna of the Lone Star state.

A national women's magazine (The Woman's Home Companion) doesn't draw many letters keyed to the news, but readers write long letters about their personal problems, frequently so intimate they hesitate to confide them to family, clergyman or doctor.

These letters are answered by a woman editor, Mary Rand, who comforts and counsels them as the situation requires.

"They treat the magazine as if it were a personal friend," Miss Rand said. "And we're glad they feel that way."

Radio networks receive thousands of letters a year. Most are requests for information, but many

HIS PLYWOOD WINGS with which he hopes to soar over Italy are displayed in Paris by Sgt. Maj. Leo Valentin of the French air force. Competing with Italian birdmen, Valentin will drop from a helicopter at 10,000 feet. Winner will be the man who stays in the air the longest. (International) are specific complaints or praises.

Miss Anita Barnard, manager of the department of information of the National Broadcasting Company, said company mail -- excluding fan mail sent to performers -- runs about 165,000 letters annually.

"People have a personal feeling about a broadcasting company," she said. "Many write to NBC as they would to a person. One music-lover wrote us a steaming letter because someone sneezed in the middle of a symphony broadcast."

All recipient of vox pop mail soon become experts at spotting "stimulated" letters.

Rep. Jacob Javits, New York City congressman, finds his mailbag a sensitive barometer of public thinking. It pours in when critical issues are under public scrutiny.

"It's a funny thing though," his press secretary said. "We got more mail from the anti-vivisectionists than about the Atlantic pact. But the former was stimulated and the latter was not."

Domestic Argument Blamed for Tragedy

COLUMBUS, May 30 — (AP) — Police said last night an argument over selling their home may have caused a retired Pennsylvania Railroad engineer to kill his wife and then take his own life.

A daughter found the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman V. Trout yesterday afternoon. Coroner Robert Evans said they had been dead since early Sunday morning.

He said that apparently the 69-year-old Trout stabbed his 64-year-old wife with a butcher knife, slashed his own wrists, and then turned on the gas.

The daughter, Mrs. Russell C. Winniestaffer of Columbus, said Mrs. Trout wanted to move while her husband did not. She said they had recently bought another home.

UMT Step Nearer After Compromise

WASHINGTON, May 30 — (AP) — Advocates of Universal Military Training were confident today the nation eventually will get a UMT program out of a compromise bill agreed upon by a Senate-House committee.

The group yesterday worked out a draft-UMT measure under which Congress has to vote again on some aspects of UMT before the six-month training program could be set in motion.

The bill also would extend the draft law for four years and lower the induction age from 19 to 18½. The present act expires July 9. The new bill sets up a 5,000,000 manpower ceiling on the armed forces, exclusive of the coast guard.

The compromise requires later congressional approval, not on the training program itself, but on three points connected with the operation of UMT. No youth could be taken for training until Congress approves proposals on:

1. A code of conduct. This involves a system of military justice applying to trainees; it would be milder than in the regular armed services.
2. Death and disability benefits.
3. Recommendations dealing with the safety, health, welfare and morals of the trainees.

Shop Owner Is Held For Arson after Fire

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 30 — (AP) — A $50,000 fire swept through the three-story day and night building in downtown Charleston early today. Two hours later, police arrested the owner of one of the shops in the building and charged him with arson. The accused was identified by the state fire marshal as Ervin Schein, 46-year-old operator of children's clothing shop in which the fire started.

3 Fayette Students Among Graduates

Three Fayette Countians will be in the near-record class of 142 who will be graduated from Wilmington College Monday at 10 A. M.

They are: Roger Kelly Booco, Jeffersonville, with bachelor of science degree; Richard W. Kelly, 419 East Street, Washington C. H., bachelor of science in education, and Dorothy T. Stanforth, 809 North North Street, bachelor of science in education.

Exactly 100 of the seniors will have completed their degree requirements at the end of the present semester and 42 will complete requirements at the end of the summer session in August.

Ninety of the graduates will receive the degree of bachelor of science in education; 27 will receive the degree of bachelor of science; 22 will be awarded the degree of bachelor of arts; two have completed requirements for both the degree of bachelor science and bachelor of science in education, and one will be granted both the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of science in education.

Dr. Lewis M. Hoskins, executive secretary of the American friends service committee, will deliver the class address. Director of the world-wide relief and rehabilitation work of the committee, Dr. Hoskins has had broad experience as an education and administrator in many parts of the world.

The baccalaureate sermon will be given by the Rev. Harvey C. Hahn, pastor of the Otterbein Church, Dayton, and a prominent civic as well as religious leader in the Miami Valley. The baccalaureate service is scheduled for 3 P. M. Sunday, June 3.

Other senior activities include the commencement play, "Lady of Letters," which will be an arena-style production May 31 and June 1, the senior breakfast Friday morning, June 1, and the alumni-reunion dinner, Saturday night, June 2.

Barbers Comply With Price Ruling

People of Delaware are back to normal once more after vigorous protests were made when barbers increased the price of hair cuts from 75 cents to $1.

The price has been returned to 75 cents due to notification by the Office of Price Stabilization that the raise was illegal and did not conform with the federal government restrictions.

District Price Stabilization Director Edward F. Wagner pointed out that cell price regulation number 34, which became effective May 16, also brings under price control such services as car washing, shoe shining, manicuring, car parking, permanent waving and many other service trades.

Cross Walk Lines Safety Measure

Within the next few days principal streets intersections in the uptown area will be striped for pedestrians.

Plans call for heavy, or double lines where cars are to halt, and sidewalks lines will be painted across the main streets.

Whether safety zones will be placed in the center of the street has not been indicated, but for years there has been a growing demand for such zones.

Most of the striping work has been completed in the city.

Championship fight No. 3 for May comes up tonight with CBS handling both radio and television. This time the heavyweight crown is at stake with Champion Ezzard Charles meeting Joey Maxim of Cleveland.

Broadcast time for radio will be 10 o'clock Eastern Local, meaning that it will be relayed direct at that hour under Eastern Daylight and be repeated later to agree with the same hour under Eastern Standard. The telecast will go out only on Eastern Daylight (3 P. M.).

Steve Ellis is to do the announcing for the radio division, whose Dennis James will talk for television.

New show for tonight's television: DuMont 9 (EDT) Down You Go, quiz program originating from WGN-TV, Chicago, in which a panel of four seeks to guess the missing letters and words in famous slogans, quotations or phrases.

For the third year Milton Berle is going on NBC-TV with his marathon broadcast on behalf of the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund. The schedule calls for the program to run from 12 noon (EDT) June 9 until 10 A. M. the following Sunday. All sorts of stars appear in the ten-hour show, which means that regular programs will step aside.

ter to the military services. (They get all they ask).

Most of this is converted into plasma which lasts for three years. Whole blood can be kept only for 21 days. The emergencies arise when battle casualties are high. Then whole blood is needed immediately in large quantities.

The fighting in Korea has been heavy the last few days. If you give your blood on this Memorial Day, it might help save an American soldier wounded 8,000 miles away on this same day. The blood you give this afternoon can reach him this weekend. It goes by air.

This fact that makes some volunteer workers in the national blood program bitter:

"The healthier people are the harder it is to get them to give a single pint of blood."

The fact that makes them happy:

"Most people who give once want to come back and give more."

Meantime, in the see-saw of prices up and down as manufacturers and merchants jockey into position for the shift to a defense economy, the consumer will pick up bargains here and there—and at the same time get hit hard in the pocketbook on other goods.

People Confused

Airplane fares across the North Atlantic are going up five percent. But after Oct. 1, 1952, when the busy summer season is over, tourists will get advantage of a new cheap fare to Europe, the rate to be set later. Students will get 50 percent reductions under the deal.

The U. S. government is cutting freight rates on coal and grain cargoes on ships it owns by 17 cents to $3.50 a ton.

Motorists along the Eastern Seaboard are finding some dealers have cut gasoline prices by one to two cents a gallon. Spotty gas have been reported elsewhere in the nation. Gasoline production is running about 10 percent above a year ago, and stocks are now about six percent over a year ago.

The department store price cutting in New York is based on the supreme court decision holding that a store which hadn't signed a Fair-Trade price-fixing agreement with the manufacturer couldn't be forced to by State Fair Trade Laws to maintain the list price.

Today Macy's, billed as the largest store, is cutting prices on 5,978 items. Management says the

5,978 items were those "in which we are well-situated, and in which out stocks are good."

First reaction of other stores serving the same class of customers: "We won't let any one undersell us continuously," and "if there is a price war we'll start right in the middle of it."

The price-cutting stems for the large inventories that have plagued retailers and wholesalers in recent weeks, after the January consumer scare-buying died down.

But there is a large school of thought that holds that these inventories—even if costly to handle now—will be moved easily in the months ahead when the production of civilian goods is cut back by the increasing concentration on production for defense.

Meantime, in the see-saw of prices up and down as manufacturers and merchants jockey into position for the shift to a defense economy, the consumer will pick up bargains here and there—and at the same time get hit hard in the pocketbook on other goods.

Polio Season Starting Now

CHICAGO, May 30 —(P)— In the polio season, June to September, it seems wise to postpone vaccinations of children for whooping cough or diphtheria, unless there's an outbreak of those diseases.

For the vaccinations may increase the chances of a child's coming down with polio.

New evidence for this bit of medical advice was described today to the Society of American Bacteriologists by Drs. Albert Milzer, Milly A. Weiss, and Katherine Vanderboom of Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago.

The advice stems from studies in England and Australia. Doctors found that more children under 5 years old developed polio within a month after vaccinations for whooping cough and diphtheria than non-vaccinated youngsters.

Legion Commander Assails Acheson

ATHENS, May 30 —(P)— The national commander of the American Legion last night called for the removal of Secretary of State Acheson and suggested the United Nations make use of Nationalist Chinese forces.

Erle Cocke, Jr., told an American Legion audience:

"Secretary Acheson is a symbol of defeatism and ought to be removed. Right or wrong, I believe the people of our nation blame the fumbling State Department involvement in Korea. Therefore, it would seem that the first step to achieve unity would be to remove Secretary Acheson and those who have anything to do with our present foreign policy."

Forests in the United States yielded 37,000,000,000 feet of lumber in 1950, a 20 year record.

Memorial Day Program Here By Rotarians

Speaker's Absence Filled by Singing Patriotic Songs

The annual Memorial Day program for the Washington Rotary Club at the Country Club Tuesday was informal.

Col. Rell G. Allen has had charge of this program each year and usually has a special guest speaker. He was disappointed this week when the speaker he had secured was unable to be present. He tried to secure another from Columbus for the program but found this impossible owing to the person sought having made other plans.

As a result the meeting was given over largely to club chorus singing with patriotic songs dominant in the program. The singing was in charge of the club's musical director William Clift. President William Himmelsbach urged that the importance and meaning of Memorial Day be given serious and quiet meditation by all club members.

As usual during these annual meetings veterans' organizations were represented by guests of the club. For the American Legion, Cecil West and Dr. Charles M. Piersick were present. The Veterans of Foreign Wars were represented by James McCoy, Darrell Wood and Reason Annon.

During the club's business session Carroll Halliday presented Wayne Becker, architect for the swimming pool in Washington Park. Becker stated that a careful inspection had disclosed that the pool here has gone through the past winter in fine shape and needed no repairs. He considered this unusual in comparison with many places, he said, where the difficult winter had caused damage to pools.

Fred Pierson, manager of the Washington pool this season, spoke briefly and invited all Rotarians and families to get behind the pool program the same as last year. He promised a big season for the pool and park.

Ray Brandenburg made an earnest appeal for the support of all Rotarians for the blood bank. The Red Cross mobile blood unit will be here Thursday at 10 A. M. at the American Legion Hall, North Fayette Street. A total of 160 pints is Fayette County's quota for this visit.

Before the program closed birthday greetings were sung by the members for Ray Brandenburg, Paul Shorr and Webber French.

Board Chairman In Another Light

Business Qualities Second to Women

NEW YORK, May 30 — (AP) — Stockholders flock to annual corporate meetings this year as they used to crowd into church socials. And after the shindig, it seems, they discuss what they do and what they don't like about chairmen of the board of directors.

A shadowy "ideal chairman" is beginning to emerge. He is formed from one attribute of each of 16 noted leaders of industrial America.

You might think that from the stockholders' point of view the ideal head of a corporation would be the one who saw to it that his company declared liberal dividends, sweetened with frequent stock splits and large year-end extras.

Maybe so. But now that the annual meeting is becoming such a social success, critical standards of the presiding dignitary's conduct are bound to arise.

The ladies, as you might guess, are the most vocally critical. A group of them, taking counsel among themselves, offers us today a composite ideal chairman, and balances him with the picture of the executive whose conduct is just too deplorable.

This group is the Federation of Women Shareholders in America Business, Inc. Members are women who own stocks and are curious about how companies are run. They attend annual meetings to carry on crusades, such as trying to get one of themselves on the board, getting the meeting place changed to a more attractive location, and getting the free lunch up-graded.

Composite Chairman

The perfect chairman, says this group, would borrow from the happier qualities of the following 16 executives.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay of Continental Can contributes the knack of putting stockholders at ease. Personableness is the contribution of Leroy A. Wilson of American Telephone and Telegraph. The ladies thrill to the gift of gab of Air Reduction's John Hill. And the baritone of Tom M. Girdler of Republic Steel sends them.

The ladies would add the parliamentary aplomb of Irving S. Olds of U. S. Steel. There's a toss-up between the self discipline and suavity of Paul M. Hann of American Tobacco and the homespun quality of Clinton H. Haskell of Beatrice Foods.

RCA's David Sarnoff contributes the perfect chairman's sense of humor and timing. International Harvester's Fowler McCormick adds sweet reasonableness. The winning smile of General Motors' C. E. Wilson has the girls agog, while Socony-Vacuum's George V. Holton impresses them with his readiness to answer questions.

The quality in L. M. Cassidy of Johns-Manville that they prize is "this generation" charm. (They think some other chairmen are apt to be a little on the elderly side.) J. Robert Rubin, MGM executive, has adroitness. Joel S. Mitchell of Standard Brands has unruffled composure. And Jack I. Strauss of R. H. Macy's has something they call "stockholder-mindedness".

Finally -- perhaps in contrition for some of the trials and tribulations chairmen have known since the ladies started getting so curious about company affairs--the group borrows from Otis Elevator's Leroy A. Petersen the attribute of patience.

But the ladies have a few thorns in the roses they hand out. And some of the things they don't like are contributed by a few of the chairmen named above.

The chairman, they don't like "refused to be interrogated" and calls stockholders "impertinent"; starves his stockholders at lunch hour meetings; has no sense of humor; and gives state of the union reports instead of state of the business their money's invested in.

The ladies are embarrassed by a chairman who gets tied up in parliamentary knots, from which any one of them--as a good club-woman--could unravel him. They shudder at the chairman who, instead of answering their questions, goes Mae West on them and says, "Come up and see me some time."

And, oh, yes, there's a little matter about directors, too--the tendency of some directors to take their afternoon naps at the annual meeting.

Home Owners Loan Corp. Goes Out of Business

NEW YORK, May 30 — (AP) — The Home Owners Loan Corporation (HOLC) has gone out of business.

Too Much Conscience

WASHINGTON, Ind. — (AP) — A local man got police to pick him up when he decided he was too drunk to stay at home peacefully, but the state penal farm sentence he got when he pleaded guilty to public intoxication was too much. He appealed.

Circuit Judge Philip D. Waller released him, deciding if he had been drunk it was in his own home and not in public.

George Kretz, manager of the office, says the sign was put up because many of the people his staff serves are past retirement age and "find stairs much higher than they used to be."

Perfect Game Barely Missed By Lemon-Homer Spoils It

By JOE REICHLER (By The Associated Press) One swipe of the bat by Vic Wertz cost Bob Lemon an opportunity to join the six pitching immortals who have hurled perfect big league games.

The ace Cleveland righthander spun a brilliant 2-1 victory over Detroit in yesterday's only action preceding today's holiday doubleheaders. But that circuit clout by Wertz cost Lemon: 1--A perfect game; 2-- a no-hitter; 3-- a shut-out.

The homer came in the eighth inning, the only Tiger hit. Wertz was the only Tiger base-runner. Lemon did not walk or hit a batter. The Indians made no errors behind him.

Until Wertz came to bat, Lemon had mowed down 21 consecutive batters. He threw a strike past the Tiger slugger, first to face him in the eighth. The next pitch landed in the upper right field stands.

"IT WAS A SLIDER," Lemon groaned after the game. "It wasn't high. It wasn't low, it was just right for him."

The last spotless pitching performance was turned in by Charley Robertson, of the Chicago White Sox who whipped the Tigers on April 30, 1922. The score was 2-0.

Lemon's one-hitter was the fifth of the season in the majors. It was the first Bob ever hurled, although he pitched a no-hitter against the same Tigers in Briggs Stadium June 30, 1948.

In winning his fourth game against five defeats, Lemon fanned seven yesterday. Of the other 21 batters who faced him, 13 grounded out, six flied to the outfield, one lined to the infield.

Al Rosen batted in both Cleveland runs, one with a double. The Tribe got six hits off Bob Cain and reliever Hal White. It was Cain's fourth loss against two wins.

Lemon's last previous victory came on May 2. He lost three straight starters before yesterday.

Red Birds Lose Again to Toledo

(By The Associated Press) Milwaukee and Kansas City swung into a crucial Memorial Day doubleheader only one percentage point apart in their battle for the American Association lead.

In the opener of a four-game series at Milwaukee Tuesday night Kansas City belted the Brewers 10-0, handing them their second shutout and third loss in three days. Milwaukee still held the Association lead.

St. Paul hung a 6-1 licking on third-place Minneapolis behind Earl Mosser's six-hitter.

Toledo captured its fourth straight win with a 5-4 decision over Columbus in 11 innings.

Louisville went ahead on Tom O'Brien's two-run homer in the fifth and pulled out a 7-4 victory over Indianapolis.

Castleton Horses Win at Ft. Miami

TOLEDO, May 30—(P)—The Grand Circuit's Big Matron stake will be decided tonight at Fort Miami track here.

The stake, one of the top events in harness racing, carries about $10,000 for the trotting division, somewhat less for the pace.

In last night's races, three of the 10 stake races were won by horses from Castleton Farms of Lexington, Ky.

Atomic Hanover took the first division of the 38 class pace in two straight dashes. Mighty Song won his fifth straight victory by coming in first in the 19 class trot. And True Spencer won the 17 class pace.

Baseball Title To Western Hills

COLUMBUS, May 30—(P)—Cincinnati Western Hills and Lima St. Rose won the Ohio class A and B high school baseball championships yesterday—but both took extra innings. Both games had been postponed twice.

Lima St. Rose caught fire in the top of the 11th, scoring five runs to down Navarre, 7-2. Western Hills carried the game into the eighth inning before it could defeat Columbus Linden McKinley, 2-1.

High school games usually are seven innings.

Lima St. Rose finished the tournament with a 14-0 record. The tournament final was Navarre's first defeat in 17 contests.

Ezz Is Favorite In Maxim Fight

Cincinnati Scrapper Going for Knockout

CHICAGO, May 30—(P)—Ezzard Charles rules a steadfast 3-1 favorite to retain his heavyweight boxing championship tonight in Chicago Stadium against challenger Joe Maxim, the sleek light-heavy king.

Despite the rarity of two champions battling and the promise of a lively brawl from the start, the turnout may number only 7,000 to 10,000 with a gross gate of less than $100,000.

More than 30 million persons will see and hear the scheduled 15-round title showdown on television and radio (CBS). The bout begins at 9 P. M. (Eastern Standard Time).

They are to weigh in at noon (EST). Charles is expected to scale 183; Maxim 181.

Charles, 29, generally is favored to defend successfully his heavyweight crown for the eighth time in 23 months because he has defeated Maxim in three previous meetings. Twice in 10-rounders back in 1942 the Cincinnati Negro outpointed the 28-year-old Cleveland Italian, and he won a split 15-round decision in his home town 27 months ago.

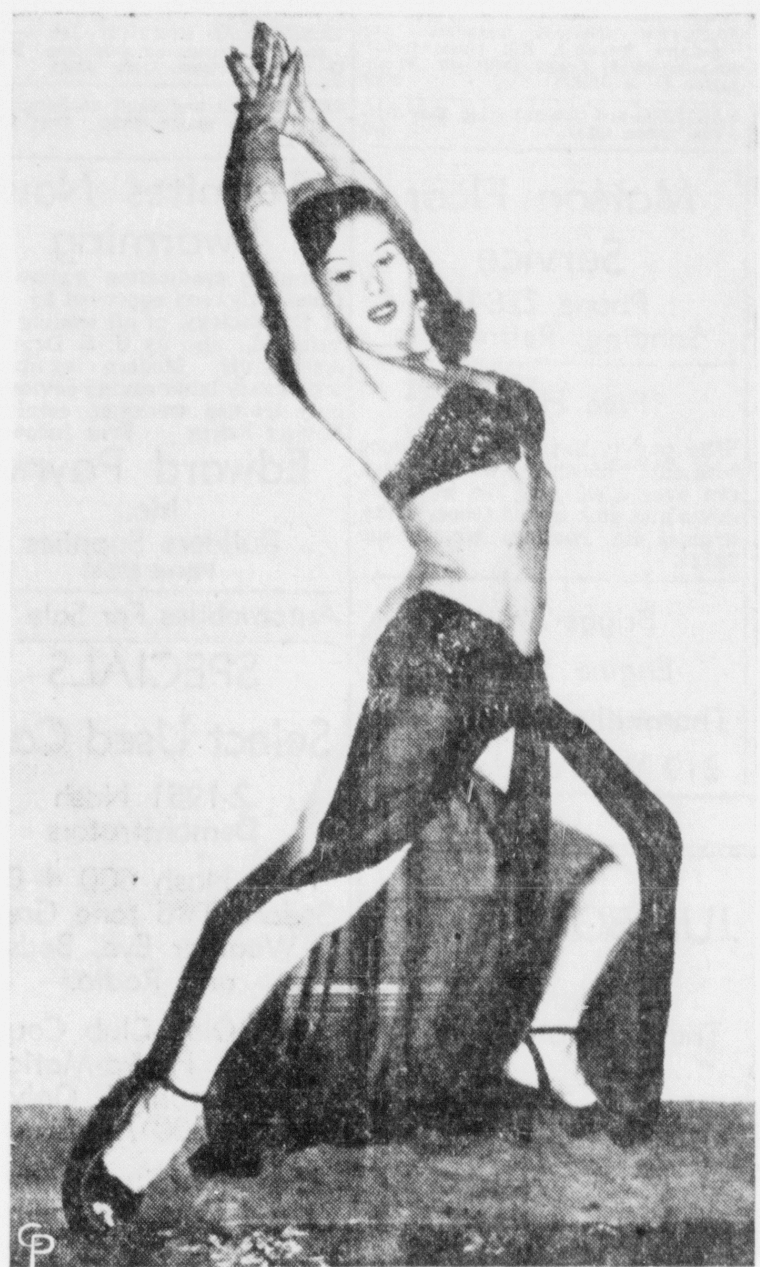

Charles, who has not been too impressive in drills except for the final week when he tore viciously into sparring partners, believes he can win by a knockout.

"I'll have Maxim if I can connect with my right," Charles analyzed. "The last time we met he gave me the shoulder and I couldn't get around to his chin. If he changes his style to a semi-crouch, I think I'll have a much better opening."

YESTERDAY'S STARS Batting—Al Rosen, Indians—Drove in both Cleveland runs as the Indians defeated the Tigers, 2-1.

Pitching—Bob Lemon, Indians—Hurled a one-hitter—a home run by Vic Wertz, to gain his fourth triumph with a 2-1 win over the Tigers.

Sales Increased By Father's Day

NEW YORK, May 23—(P)—Love and affection and concern for dad seems likely to hit record highs in the next few weeks.

There's nothing like a let-down in sales in the men's wear department to bring out a wave of interest in the gentleman. And merchants who were disappointed that father didn't spruce up for Easter the way they had hoped are ready to make a big thing of reminding mother and the children that June 17 is Father's Day.

And how better to show your interest in the family provider than trying to improve his appearance? The way the merchants see it, that will be good for the national economy, too.

Father's day, however, has its serious, non-commercial side. To that end, the national Father's Day council is choosing a father of the year and urging June 17 be dedicated to the proposition: "A

Indians 'High' Of Boy Pitcher

$100,000-plus Bonus Given Him, Report

CLEVELAND, May 30—(P)—The Cleveland Indians—at huge expense—have acquired a 18-year-old pitcher who they think may have the makings of another Bob Feller.

Tribe General Manager Hank Greenberg personally escorted Big Billy Joe Davidson back here yesterday after the youth graduated from Oak Ridge Military Academy, a North Carolina prep school.

The Indians said they paid the six-foot-one, 211-pound hurler the largest bonus ever given a player to sign. The exact amount wasn't disclosed, but Tribe Publicist Marsh Samuel said it was more than $100,000.

Reports from other sources said the Indians had to plunk down from $120,000 to $150,000 to outbid 12 other major league clubs seeking the youth.

Davidson will stay with the club for at least two weeks, but is expected to be sent to the San Diego Padres, a Cleveland farm club for seasoning.

The youth is eligible for the draft, however, and Greenberg freely admitted his signing was somewhat of a gamble.

Davidson started playing American Legion ball when he was 13. During three years of pitching at Oak Ridge Military Academy, he won 19 games and lost only one and often struck out 18 or 20 players in each contest.

Sights Set High By Cincinnati Reds

CINCINNATI, May 30—(P)—There hasn't been much in the last week or so to indicate they'll do it but the Cincinnati Reds are aiming toward a .500 mark in the National League standing.

At least that was the word today from the Reds' bosses and players as they set up shop for a doubleheader against the Chicago Cubs.

The Reds can't make that .500 mark even if they sweep the twin bill with the Bruins but they can pull right up to the door.

With that in mind, Manager Luke Sewell planned to open the day's proceedings with Ken Raf-fensberger on the mound and he's a gent who seldom has trouble with Chicago.

Look casual, be comfortable—as easy as getting sun-tanned! Just slip into the distinctively patterned, happy-hued Manhattan sportshirt. It's made of soft, luxurious rayon and fully cut to keep you free and easy. Washes easily in soap and water. See our great big, colorful assortment of Manhattan sportshirts today.

WISE'S For Men & Boys 220 E. Court St.

with the dollars-and-cents success of Mother's Day a great inspiration to merchants in the field.

Men's furnishings sales set all time highs for June in 1948 and again in 1950, Federal Reserve Board figures show. And interest in making father look better gets most of the credit. June, in fact, is now the second month in the trade, topped only by December, when even more people seem to think they should get something for father -- to soften him up, perhaps, for the day when he opens the Christmas bills, which often include the bill for his own presents, of course.

This June merchants hope to top even last year's record high. It's no secret that they've needed no traffic cops lately to handle the crowds in the men's furnishings stores. Promotions have helped. And so, many retailers are counting on Father's Day promotions to help start retail sales rolling again.

Ah, Those new Neckties Some 19 million new ties should confront the nation's fathers on that day, in the optimistic opinion of the Men's Tie Foundation, Inc. At least, it looks optimistic from where the foundation sits. How the ties will look to father can't be held against the foundation.

That organization also predicts 15 percent of the ties will be bow ties. One manufacturer says that this year will see the biggest bow tie boom in 40 years. He claims it's all part of the trend toward lighter weight apparel.

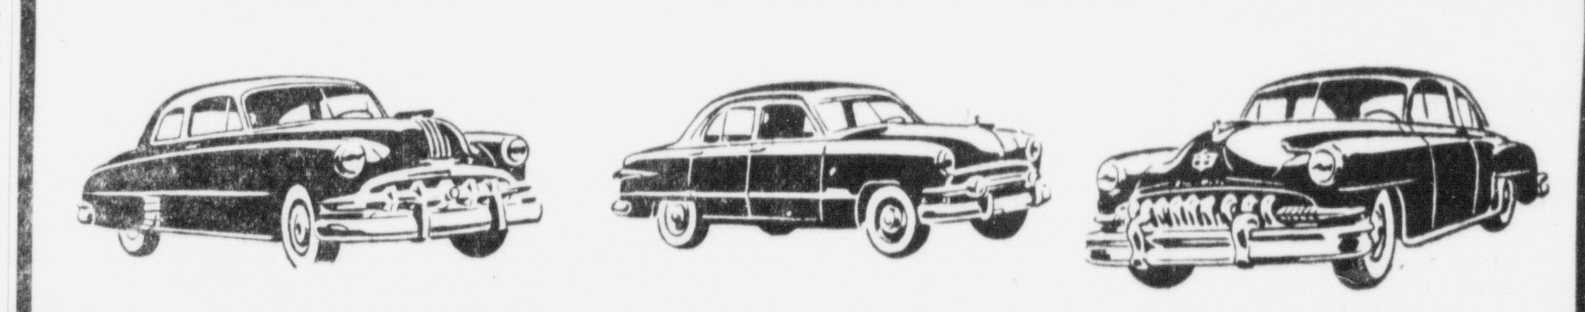

The Greek word from which "music" is derived was used originally for all the arts, including reading, writing and mathematics.

KILL 'EM WITH KINDNESS

Copyright, 1930, by Bell Publishing Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate

CHAPTER THIRTY-THREE
"HELLO!" McGann flashed rapidly. "Hello!" The operator came on. "What number are you calling, please?"
"I'm not calling any number; somebody was calling me."
"I'm sorry," the operator said, "your party has hung up."
"Can you get them back?"
"No, sir."
"Never mind," McGann held down the cradle cutoff for a moment, got the dial tone. The wheel whirled as he dialed ELdorado 5-3000. On the second ring the girl came on, "Waldorf-Astoria." McGann gave Chary's room number. "One moment, please." She closed the key and McGann waited impatiently, the phone growing moist in his hand.
She came back, "Are you calling Mary Jones?"
"Yes, it's an emer—" She was gone again. McGann swore under his breath. The key flicked open. "I will give you the room clerk, sir."
"I don't want—" "Room Clerk speaking."
McGann got hold of himself with an effort. "This is very important. I'm trying to reach Miss Mary Jones." He repeated the room number.
"Miss Jones has checked out."
"Checked out? When?"
A pause. "About an hour ago."
"Was she with anybody?"
"I beg pardon?"
"Did anybody come to the hotel for her? Did she leave with anyone, or did she go out alone?"
The room clerk apparently was trying to think back. "I'm quite certain she was alone when she left the lobby, sir."
Wexton flung back into the room. He was panting. "No good," McGann told the room clerk. "Just a minute," and turned to the reporter. "They said the connection was broken too soon," Wexton explained.
McGann nodded, returned to the phone. "This may be a matter of life or death. Did Miss Jones give any hint to where she was going?"
"Not to us, sir."
McGann's voice was steady. "Listen carefully," he said. "Talk to the doorman. Find out if he overheard her instructions to a cab driver. Or see if he remembers what cab she took so it can be traced. If I can't locate her another way I'll call you back. Will you do that?"
The clerk sounded dubious. "This is all very irregular, you know. Just who is this calling?"
Patiently, McGann explained about Chary's connection with the slain Ronnie Tompkins. "I had her stay there as a safety measure. You see what this means?"
"I'll do what I can, sir," the clerk said briskly. "I'll get the house officer on it right away."
"Thanks." He dropped the re-

Stampede for Home By Young Chinese

SINGAPORE.—(P)—The lodging houses in Singapore—there are hundreds of them—are overflowing with "draft dodgers." Thousands of young Chinese are flocking into this British crown colony city from the Federation of Malaya, all hoping to get quick passage to Red China. Most of these are Chinese between the ages of 18 and 24.
The Federation Government a few months ago ordered a man-power registration of all within these age classifications. The government hoped to raise 20,000 men, some of whom would be assigned to fight against Communist terrorists in the dense jungles of Malaya.

Every lodging house here is jammed. Chinese are crowding halls, passageways and dining rooms. They sleep on camp beds and planks besides gunny sacks, bulging baskets and suitcases which contain their baggage.
A year ago, only 50 to 100 Chinese came to Singapore each month seeking passage to China.

It's an Unholy Trade

GARY, Ind.—(P)—The first Baptist Church here found itself equipped with a full set of safe cracking tools, but minus $525 in collection plate money. Deacon Edward Cunningham decided the burglars had been scared away before they could pick up their tools.

A British chemical concern is now testing a substance that may render fabrics indigestible to moths and make cloth permanently moth-proof.
